After I saw his wonderful new play in New York at Lincoln Center, I called Anthony Giardina, the playwright, right away about producing his play at Arena. The City of Conversation is a Washington story through and through. Spanning three decades, we see how politics change people, both on a personal and a national level. I know this production will have deep meaning for our astute Washington audiences who know Georgetown and its culture intimately.

Anthony has a wonderful history with Arena. We produced his first play Living at Home during our “In the Process” series back in 1977. We have since had the pleasure of commissioning his adaptation of An American Tragedy and producing The Child. He recently compared Arena to the Yale School of Drama because he said he learned so much here. We are fortunate to have Doug Hughes as the director. I have wanted to bring Doug here for many years, and I am so glad that this is the production, as he also directed its remarkable premiere at Lincoln Center.

Since returning to Washington to lead Arena Stage, I have searched fiercely for D.C.’s voice in theater. I’ve become convinced that our unique voice is political. Politics is Washington and Washington is politics — our red meat, our blood lines. We are the city that loves to talk politics from the first moment waking up to when our heads hit the pillow. At Arena we’re going to take that idea and run with it — you’ll continue to see more plays and musicals on the politics of America. What better place to make this happen than in our nation’s capital at Arena Stage, where we focus on American plays, American artists and American ideas?

The City of Conversation is part of a strong lineup of political dramas this spring. Lynn Nottage’s brilliant new drama Sweat has already opened next door in the Kreeger, and Robert Schenkkan’s ferocious All the Way follows in the Fichandler. Our season will wrap up with Ayad Akhtar’s powerful Pulitzer Prize-winning play Disgraced.

I can think of no better place to have this conversation than in the Fichandler. The audience is surrounded by fellow audience members sharing and reaching across the theatrical space. This experience is immersive and a huge mirror — we are surrounded by Washingtonians, watching a play about Washingtonians.

I can’t wait to hear the discussions in the lobby...

Best,

Molly Smith, Artistic Director
You may be wondering about this neighborhood of ours that at long last is transforming before our very eyes. It is certainly the topic of many “Hester Ferris” dinner parties here in the Southwest quadrant.

For decades, Arena has been a place for our neighbors and community leaders to meet and have meaningful conversations — in our lobby before shows, at intermission and many times in public meetings where that is the only show, and the only story to be told.

One of our values as a resident theater is to build effective partnerships, collaborations and practices designed to raise all boats. That is why we embraced the formation of the Southwest Business Improvement District. As executive producer of Arena Stage, I serve on the board of this new organization. Beyond my participation on the Board, Arena is serving as a start-up working space for the BID, as well as community meeting space.

The SWBID is tracking 39 development projects. Among them: five hotels, the construction of the 430,000 square foot Museum of the Bible, the relocation of the Spy Museum, three new churches, a 6,000-seat music venue, a new public library and 20 residential projects with 1,200 residential units. The majority of the development is within 1,500 feet of Arena Stage, with several of these projects scheduled to deliver in late 2017.

There are 19,000 people that live within a mile of Arena Stage. Southwest is an evolving neighborhood — the Southwest Neighborhood Assembly is 50 years old and Arena Stage is a 55-year resident. The Capital Yacht Club has been in operation for over 130 years, and the Fish Market is over 200 years old. They are all local D.C. fixtures that give us a true sense of identity and a solid base on which to grow all that is new and transforming within this neighborhood.

Of course the work on our stages and in community classrooms is at the center of what defines Arena’s value as a public institution. But Arena is also a pioneer of the resident theater movement, which involves understanding the true meaning of the word “resident” and the importance of being embedded in our neighborhood and community. Here is where the important conversations happen and the meaningful stories are shared.

As executive producer of Arena Stage and a resident of Southwest, I am very excited about what is in store for us all!

Thanks for listening.

Best,

Edgar Dobie, Executive Producer

In The City of Conversation, Anthony Giardina shows what happens to one family when politics becomes personal. When her son returns to D.C. with a fiancée, and surprisingly conservative beliefs, longtime liberal doyenne, Hester Ferris, must choose between her family and her life’s work. We’re thrilled to have this “juicy, funny and terrific new play” (New York Times) right where it belongs — Washington, D.C. I had the pleasure of interviewing Tony at the beginning of rehearsals. Below is an excerpt of our conversation.

What was your inspiration for writing the play?

My inspiration for writing the play came from an essay by Sidney Blumenthal that appeared in The New Yorker in 1997. It was called “The Ruins of Georgetown,” and it was about Joseph Alsop and his world. It affected me the way reading anything about worlds ghostly and lost always does — in this case, it was the old social world of Georgetown, the intimacy that existed between kings and kingmakers, dinner parties in which actual deal-making was done. Though the piece was about Alsop, it was so much about his wife, Susan Mary, that I remember thinking: “Someone should write a play about these women, these hostesses.” It barely occurred to me that that playwright might be me. But it started something — a long process of reading, exploring, thinking. Finally it occurred to me that if no one else was going to do it, I would.

You’ve worked with director Doug Hughes for a long time. How would you describe your collaborative relationship?

Doug and I first met in 1981, and worked on a play that turned out to be a huge disaster in New York. At that point you decide you never want to see each other again, or you bond for life. In our case, happily, it was the latter. Now when we work together, we have a frame of reference — at this point, encompassing six productions and workshops over the course of 35 years — that allows us a beautiful shorthand in the rehearsal hall. I know, and deeply appreciate, how he guides actors and shapes performances, so it’s a pleasure to just sit back and observe that. That level of trust is so rare that I have to remind myself not to take it for granted — to respect someone as much as I respect him, and for the two of us to take our (I hope) mutual respect into a public arena is what makes the process so valuable for me. It’s not that we don’t have disagreements — we do — but like any good couple, we’ve learned how to resolve them amicably.

CAST (in alphabetical order)

FREDDIE BENNETT (Donald Logan) is thrilled to make his Arena Stage debut. Past credits include Mosaic Theater Company (Unexplored Interior), Shakespeare Theatre Company (A Midsummer Night's Dream, Dunsinane, The Tempest), Anacostia Playhouse (Occupied Territories), Florida Studio Theatre (Ruined, Shotgun), Hartford Stage (Antony and Cleopatra) and Pennsylvania Shakespeare Festival (Julius Caesar). Film credits include Delusions of Guinevere. He attended the University of North Carolina School of the Arts and trained with Circle in the Square Theatre School.

MARGARET COLIN (Hester Ferris) lives in NYC, where she first began acting at age 19 on the TV series The Edge of Night. This marks her first time at Arena Stage and working in D.C. Broadway has welcomed her in The Columnist, Arcadia, A Day in the Death of Joe Egg, Old Acquaintance and Jackie: An American Life (which was her Broadway debut). She toured China in The Pentagon Papers playing Katharine Graham. She has had series leads on several TV shows, including Gossip Girl, Leg Work, Now and Again, Chicago Hope, Foley Square and others. She saved the world in Independence Day and rocked it in Something Wild in addition to appearing in many other feature, indie and cable films. Very grateful.

CAROLINE HEWITT (Anna Fitzgerald) makes her Arena Stage debut. In the Greater D.C. area she appeared at Baltimore's Center Stage in Twelfth Night and The Rivals. Other recent favorites include Tamburlaine the Great (Theatre for a New Audience), Warrior Class (Alley Theater), John Doyle's The Caucasian Chalk Circle (American Conservatory Theater) and Arcadia and The Winter's Tale (Chautauqua Theatre Company). She was recently seen on video as Mary Lou in the David Bowie musical Lazarus at New York Theatre Workshop. Caroline majored in French at Vassar College and received her M.F.A. in acting at American Conservatory Theater. Her translations and adaptations include Rose: The Australian Night and Howards End. She is a founding member of The (Blank) Space acting collective.

ANN MCDONOUGH (Jean Swift) is happy to be making her Arena Stage debut, having grown up in Baltimore. At Lincoln Center Theater, she performed in Abe Lincoln in Illinois and Dinner at Eight. She was in the original production of A.R. Gurney's The Dining Room and performed in the show again 25 years later when the cast won a Drama Desk Award for Best Ensemble. Also in New York, she appeared in the original productions of Sister Mary Ignatius Explains It All for You, What I Did Last Summer, Mastergate, Uncommon Women and Others and Fables for Friends. At Long Wharf Theatre in New Haven she performed in 12 productions, most recently Our Town (Mrs. Soames). On TV she appeared on Law & Order, The Good Wife and All My Children (Esther).

TODD SCOFIELD (George Mallonee) is happy to be making his Arena Stage debut. Over the past 13 years, he has worked with Shakespeare Theatre Company (As You Like It, The Taming of the Shrew, The Importance of Being Earnest, Twelfth Night), Folger Theatre (The Tempest, Measure for Measure, Henry VIII, Mary Stuart), Round House Theatre (The Beauty Queen of Lenane, NSFW, Stage Kiss), Theater J (C.S. Lewis in Freud's Last Session, Bal Masque), Adventure Theatre (Winnie the Pooh), Olney Theatre Center and Ford’s Theatre. Outside of the D.C. area, Todd worked at Arden Theatre Company and spent four seasons at the North Carolina Shakespeare Festival. On TV, he was seen in A recurring role on seasons three and five of The Wire.

MICHAEL SIMPSON (Colin Ferris/Ethan Ferris) is happy and humbled to be making his Arena Stage debut. He most recently performed as Colin/Ethan in The City of Conversation at Lincoln Center Theater. He last performed in D.C. as an understudy in The Guardsman at the Kennedy Center. Additional credits include The Glass Menagerie at The Old Globe in San Diego.
Electra at Pittsburgh Public Theater, Tennis in Nablus at Alliance Theatre in Atlanta and The Whipping Man at Dorset Theatre Festival. Film credits include the upcoming Liv and TV credits include The O.C., House and The Cleaner. Michael was educated at The Juilliard School.

TYLER SMALLWOOD (Young Ethan) is nine years old and excited to make his professional theater debut! He has previously performed with Adventure Theatre MTC in Aladdin, Alice in Wonderland and Rats! The Musical. He also studies drama at Georgetown Day School. When he’s not on stage, Tyler is usually playing some kind of sport (most often, baseball). Tyler thanks his parents, sister, grandparents and teachers for making this experience possible.

JJANA VALENTINER (Carolyn Mallonee) is delighted to make her Arena Stage debut. Other D.C. appearances include originating the role of Stage Manager in Our Suburb at Theater J (director Judith Ivey), Sandra in One Flew Over the Cuckoo’s Nest at Round House Theatre, Audrey in As You Like It at Folger Theatre, First Lady in F*cking A at Studio Theatre, Coriolanus at Shakespeare Theatre Company, Leopard in Zomo the Rabbit at Imagination Stage, Zookeeper in Birds of a Feather at Hub Theatre (Helen Hayes Award nomination, Best Ensemble), Electra in The Oresteia at Constellation Theatre Company and Sabina in The Skin of Our Teeth at Rorschach Theatre. Jjana premiered her one woman show, Funeral Potatoes, in D.C. to sold-out audiences in 2009 and also works as a professional makeup artist.

CAEDEN WHITE (Young Ethan u/s) is honored to be a part of The City of Conversation as his first collaboration with Arena Stage. A protégé of Linda Townsend Management, Caeden loves to act both on stage and on-camera. He enjoys modeling and has done catalogue work for Magic Cabin in addition to appearing in Weddings Unveiled. When he is not performing, Caeden enjoys studying dinosaurs and building his own Lego creations. He is thankful for the opportunity to work with such talented individuals at Arena Stage and would like to thank his family for their love and enthusiastic support.
WHO’S WHO

TOM WIGGIN (Chandler Harris) is an Alexandria native and The City of Conversation marks his Arena Stage debut. Other D.C. credits include Gus in The Intelligent Homosexuals’s Guide... DOUG HUGHES (Director) makes his Arena Stage debut. His previous D.C. productions are Hughie and The Little Foxes (Helen Hayes Award nomination, Best Director), both with Shakespeare Theatre Company. Broadway productions include Outside Mullingar, The Big Knife, An Enemy of the People, Born Yesterday, Elling, Mrs. Warren’s Profession, Oleanna, The Royal Family (Tony Award-nominated revival), A Man for All Seasons, Mauritius, Inherit the Wind (Tony Award-nominated revival), A Touch of the Poet, Frozen (Tony Award nomination, Best Director) and Doubt, for which he won the Tony Award for Best Director. Off-Broadway productions include The City of Conversation, Death Takes a Holiday (Drama Desk Award nomination, Best Director of a Musical), The Whipping Man, Engaged, The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter, Flesh and Blood and Defiance. Additional awards include the Drama Desk, Outer Critics Circle, Lucille Lortel, Obie and Callaway.

ANTHONY GIARDINA (Playwright)’s first play, Living at Home, was produced in Arena Stage’s “In the Process” series in the Old Vat Room in 1977, before moving on to its New York premiere at Playwrights Horizons. Arena Stage subsequently produced two more of his plays—a commissioned adaptation of An American Tragedy and The Child. His other plays, including Scenes from La Vie de Boheme, The Beach, Black Forest and Custody of the Eyes, have been produced at Manhattan Theatre Club, Long Wharf Theatre, Yale Repertory Theatre, Seattle Repertory Theatre and Cleveland Play House. The City of Conversation, which premiered at the Mitzi E. Newhouse Theater at Lincoln Center in May 2014, was nominated for both the Outer Critics Circle and Drama Desk Awards for Best Play of the 2014/15 season. The play is now being developed as a three-part mini-series on FX. In addition to his work as a playwright, Anthony has published five novels and a book of short stories. His most recent novels, “White Guys” and “Norumbega Park,” were published by Farrar, Straus and Giroux. He is a regular visiting professor at the Michener Center for Writers at The University of Texas at Austin.

CREATIVE TEAM

ARENA STAGE LEADERSHIP

MOLLY SMITH (Artistic Director) has served as Artistic Director of Arena Stage since 1998. Her directing credits include Oliver!, The Originalist, Fiddler on the Roof, Camp David, Mother Courage and Her Children, Oklahoma!, A Moon for the Misbegotten, My Fair Lady, The Great White Hope, The Music Man, Orpheus Descending, Legacy of Light, The Women of Brewster Place, Cabaret, An American Daughter, South Pacific, Agamemnon and His Daughters, Coyote Builds North America, All My Sons and How I Learned to Drive at Arena Stage. Her directorial work has also been seen at the Shaw Festival in Canada, Berkeley Repertory Theatre, Trinity Repertory Company, Tarragon Theatre in Toronto, Centaur Theatre in Montreal and Perseverance Theater in Juneau, Alaska, which she founded and ran from 1979-1998. Molly has been a leader in new play development for over 30 years. She is a great believer in first, second and third productions of new work and has championed projects like How I Learned to Drive; Passion Play, a cycle and Next to Normal. She has worked alongside playwrights Sarah Ruhl, Paula Vogel, Wendy Wasserstein, Lawrence Wright, Karen Zacarías, John Murrell, Eric Coble, Charles Randolph-Wright and many others. She led the re-invention of Arena Stage, focusing on the architecture and creation of the Mead Center for American Theater and by positioning Arena Stage as a national center for American artists. During her time with the company, Arena Stage has workshopped more than 100 productions, produced 29 world premières, staged numerous second and third productions and been an important part of nurturing seven projects that went on to have a life on Broadway. In 2014, Molly made her Broadway debut directing The Velocity of Autumn, following its critically acclaimed run at Arena Stage. She was awarded honorary doctorates from American University and Towson University.

EDGAR DOBIE (Executive Producer) After nearly four decades, Edgar continues to enjoy a career in public theater. He has served as executive director of Trinity Repertory Company in Providence, founding managing director of Toronto’s Canadian Stage Company and managing director at National Arts Centre in Ottawa and Vancouver’s New Play Centre. Based in New York City for six years, he was president of Andrew Lloyd Webber’s Really Useful Company and the North American executive producer of Riverdream, as well as managing producer of the Tony Awards. His Broadway producing credits include Sunset Boulevard (Tony Award for Best Musical), Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, Paul Simon’s The Capeman, The Adventures of Tom Sawyer, Boublil and Schönberg’s The Pirate Queen and Dolly Parton’s 9 to 5. He is a member of the Directors for theatreWashington and the Southwest Business Improvement District. Edgar, his good wife Tracy and their daughter Greta Lee are all proud residents of Southwest Washington, D.C.

This theater operates under an agreement between the League of Resident Theatres and Actors’ Equity Association.

THE NEXT STAGE CAMPAIGN DONORS

Arena Stage gratefully acknowledges the many individuals, families, corporations and foundations whose support of the Next Stage Campaign helped us realize the construction and expanded programming of our new center, Arena Stage at the Mead Center for American Theater. In recognition of their tremendous generosity and visionary philanthropy, Arena Stage is proud to honor Gilbert and Jaylee Mead with the naming of our new theater center which opened its doors to the public on October 23, 2010.

Our Donor Honor Wall represents all gifts to the Next Stage Campaign of $30,000 or more. A full listing of all Next Stage Campaign contributors of $1,000 or more can be found at www.arenastage.org/donate/next-stage-campaign. For more information about future naming opportunities, please contact Kristen Mitchell at 202-600-4026 or kmitchell@arenastage.org.
